THE VALUE OF POPULAR GOVERNMENT.

"Where are your soldiers?" asked a South American delegate of Mr. William E. Curtis at Holyoke, Massachusetts, the other day, while the party was waiting for the procession to start. "On all our New England tour I have not seen a soldier in one of the city streets." Mr. Curtis assured him that we did not need any soldiers in time of peace, and our soldiers in time of war were watching the Indians. "But who preserves order?" the delegate persisted. "We; there is a policeman keeping back the crowd," said Mr. Curtis, pointing to a blue coat who was mousing with his club. "But he isn't armed," continued the inquirer. "In our country about one-tenth of the able-bodied men are soldiers, and in a large place like this a man stands with a gun on every street corner. All this government by the people is wonderful."

There is a beautiful tribute to and a fine illustration of popular government. Not a soldier can be seen on the streets of any city in all this Union; and then only think of it, here we have a population of 60,000,000, and the standing army is but 28,000. France has a population of 38,000,000, not much more than half of that of the United States, but its standing army is 523,000. Germany is peopled with 47,000,000, and its regular army numbers 490,000. Russia with a population of 102,000,000, maintains an army of over 800,000. The little kingdom of Italy, having a population of 30,000,000, supports an army of 265,000. Great Britain with her 37,000,000 people, has a standing army of 201,000. It costs Great Britain $2.46 per capita to maintain its army; Germany, $2.15; Russia, $1.17; France, $2.98; and the United States only 67 cent.

There is a splendid commentary on our republican form of government in these comparisons. No other country can make such a showing as this. It is certainly wonderful to see this government by the people and for the people, and every American should feel proud of such a government.

A BEGINNING WITH SUGAR BEETS.

It is learned from the Milwaukee Sentinel that "the enterprising farmers of the towns of Wauwatosa and Granville have reason to be grateful to Secretary Rusk for his valuable advice in relation to their proposed beet-sugar industry. While promising them all the aid within his power, he cautioned them not to spend large sums in the erection of a factory before they fully convince themselves that the venture will prove to be a profitable one. Though he has good reasons for believing that the soil and climate of Wisconsin are favorable to the production of beets with a high percentage of saccharine matter, he would have the point determined beyond question. He, therefore, advises the farmers to plant small areas of the best varieties and subject the yields to thorough chemical tests, at the same time observing the duration of the growing season and ascertaining the cost of trenching the winter supplies. In conclusion, Secretary Rusk directs attention to the fact that the chemist of the national bureau is already closely studying the beet sugar industries of the country, and that his deductions will be published in bulletin form for the information of all who are in any way interested in the subject.

The best way to crush the sugar trust and to make the sugar production of this country practical and abundant, is to go into the sugar beet industry with an energy and intelligence that mean success. It has been demonstrated that millions of acres in the United States are especially adapted to the growing of the sugar beet. It is claimed that California, where the best grows wonderfully well, can produce beets enough to supply the whole country with sugar.

If the department of agriculture under the wise management of Secretary Rusk, will take hold of this matter and give the beet sugar industry a fair boost, it will bestow a special boon on the people of this country.

The Schlitz brewing company met with a righteous defeat in Iowa the other day. The sheriff of Johnson county seized a car load of beer which was trying to make its way through Iowa, and on the trial a democratic justice who was opposed to prohibition, ordered the beer returned, and while it was in the sheriff's possession 35 kegs were spoiled by freezing. The Schlitz company brought suit in the federal court claiming actual and exemplary damages to the amount of $10,000. The proof showed that the actual damages did not exceed $100. After the plaintiff's case had been presented Judge Shires instructed the jury to find a verdict for that amount, and then the verdict aside for want of jurisdiction, the amount involved being less than the statute requires. The judge said it is the claim for exemplary damages exceeding the value of the property could not for a moment be allowed, and that the court could not admit the claim of any special sacredness inhering in beer, as property.

The Moss-Stein litigation in Milwaukee has come to an unfortunate ending for Mrs. Moss, the jury disagreeing. It is about time for the personal enemies of Mr. Stein and Mr. Wharton to cease their persecution of these gentlemen. The whole proceeding against them have been a disgrace to men engaged in it, and an unfortunate thing for the church.

A wise young man is that youngest son of the lamented Stephen A. Douglas. In a speech in Ohio the other day he said: "I am a republican because the republican party is always for something, while the democracy is for nothing until it sees what the republicans are for and then the democrats are against it."

The best thing the southern negro can do is to cease his political war upon his white neighbors. -Courier Journal.

And wouldn't it be just as well to suggest that the best thing the whites in the south can do is to cease their murderous attacks upon innocent negroes?

The Canadian Pacific railway company has contracted for three fast steamships of 6,000 tons each for the new line from Vancouver to Yokohama and Hong Kong. That is the way the British ships captured the plum on the high seas.

Dr. Talnage estimates the net loss of highbush from the recent fire at about $39,000. The total insurance on the building and contents was $129,450.

PROTECTION INSURES NATIONAL WEALTH.

There is a lesson for free trade oracles, whether they see fit to heed it or not, in the marked influx of money for business from Great Britain to the United States from the nation most aggressive in its advocacy of free foreign trade to the nation most unambiguously committed to the policy of protecting its labor and capital. While many of the rumors of purchases by agents of foreign capitalists are ill-founded, others are known to be based upon actual transactions in furtherance of which purchasers have entered into possession of the properties. No doubt most of these capitalists would prefer to have been allowed to use the money at home, and from British establishments manned by British operatives supplied their products to their people. For this privilege their statesmen, their writers and their many active allies in this country have long labored and are yet industriously working. But as the probabilities of success in that direction were further than ever removed by last year's verdict of our people, which dwarfed the arrogant majority voting for the Mills bill into an opposing faction, shrewd foreigners realized that our fact accumulating wealth was to be kept at home, and that the only way in which they could become sharers in our phenomenal prosperity was by investing their money here and submitting their property to taxation equally with that of American citizens.

Capital is coming to the United States, just as emigration has long been coming, in volume without parallel in the world's history, because foreign capitalists have come to realize the permanency as well as the wisdom of our national policy that keeps at home for the enrichment of the country most of the wealth which free trade would scatter to the people of other nations. And thus is protection vindicated by those who have long been its strongest opposers.

A THRILLING SEA TALE.

Experience of Captain Brady, a Frequent Visitor to Philadelphia.

A familiar face again seen in shipping circles the other day was that of Capt. J. R. Brady, who made himself very popular here as the master of the steamship Bengofo Head while she was engaged in service between this port and Liverpool, says the Philadelphia Press.

Capt. Brady has absented himself from this port for nearly a year, but has again entered into this trade as master of the steamship City of Belfast, a new steel craft having all the latest improvements.

Since last in Philadelphia Capt. Brady has undergone an awful experience of shipwreck. He left the Bengofo Head in January and took command of the steamship Sumatra, and after loading a full cargo of cargo oil sailed for Hong Kong, China. All went well until within 200 miles of Port Said, Egypt, when the ship caught fire by spontaneous combustion. The crew had but a short time to prepare their wardrobe and make their escape to the boats. The sea was running very high and a fresh northwesterly gale chilled the atmosphere, but all hands managed to get into the boats, Capt. Brady with merely a white linen suit on. He lay by the burning ship until she was enveloped in flames, and then taking the lead in his boat started off to Damietta, the nearest land.

Their struggle for life in open boats amid great sufferings lasted three days until they were finally picked up by the Glen Leno steamship Glenora and landed at Malta. The principal sufferings to which the captain and his men were subjected was the want of water. A large, deep cask was placed in one of the boats, but the water was so low down that it couldn't be got at. Capt. Brady, fearing his men would lose their reason for want of water, after some hours in the boat took off one of his boots and after cutting it down to proper size made a drinking cup of it.

While adrift in their miserable condition two steamers passed them and paid no attention to their signals. One man became a raving maniac through exposure and died.

TO RESCUE THE SUSPECTS.

BOLD PLOT TO FREE THE CRO-NIN PRISONERS.

An Attempt Planned for Monday Afternoon to Take Coughlin and Burke From the Court Room.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—It is asserted that a bold plot has been organized to rescue from the trial court room Dan Coughlin and Martin Burke, on trial for the murder of Dr. Cronin. Several times there have been hints of such a scheme, but State's Attorney Longenecker has not believed them till now, when he admits the possibility of danger from this source.

A number of strangers, a crowd of a dozen—dressed much as farmers and doing their utmost to appear "green," have been hanging about the court room where Coughlin et al were on trial, every day since Wednesday, and probably before, and the conduct of these same ugly-looking fellows was so studiously awkward that several reporters observed and commented upon it to one another.

Friday morning when court opened Judge Longenecker took a sly squint around the court room and recognized the forms of several men who had been pointed out to him during the week as strangers who would bear watching.

While making a study of the audience two of the strangers under suspicion changed their seats to ones further front, where they had a commanding view of the prisoners. At the same time it was noticed that Dan Coughlin's attention had been attracted toward them. At once the expression on his face changed from the common pallor it generally wears to a deep flush. He exchanged a look of recognition with the two men.

Longenecker soon caught the smaller of the two strangers making signs, which, from Coughlin's animated countenance, were evidently perfectly understood by the latter. The pantomime lasted fifteen minutes, when the two men arose and retired. A reporter, who had been an eye-witness, and who understood the situation, followed them out on to the street, over to the south side, and to a saloon.

As the men went out of the court room they exchanged signals with two men seated in the rear part of the room. These two had also been seen hanging about the room for the last three days. In two other seats where other strangers were located, there was a slight movement as if the men understood thoroughly the actions of the two leaving the room.

It was not long after this that the pair who had been recognized by Coughlin's friends got up and left, closely followed by a second reporter, who at the Palmer House ticket office heard them make inquiries for tickets to Vancouver, B. C.

Returning to the court-room the reporter witnessed another secret communication going on between a stranger and Martin Burke, with Coughlin an interested observer.

Judge Longenecker has good reason for believing that these strangers are not only friends of Coughlin and Burke, but that they are Clan-na-Gaels from Michigan come here especially to assist in an attempted rescue.

The plan as laid out was that on Monday afternoon when the prisoners were returning to the court-room from dinner the conspirators should jump up, throw a few handfuls of red pepper in the eyes of the half-dozen sleepy bailiffs and begin firing revolvers off in all directions.

At that moment Coughlin and Burke would knock the bailiffs right and left, grab a revolver from the hands of a friend, and call to the others to follow them. With the present guard the trick could be done in less than a minute and the prisoners be down on the street, where carriages would be in waiting.

The discovery of the plot has been followed by the doubling of guards and the prohibition of all visitors to the prisoners.

ROBBING THE MAILS.

The Son a Virginia Postmaster Detected in Abstracting Money from Letters.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 19.—William L. Jordan, son of Postmaster H. A. Jordan of Manchester, and a clerk in that office, was arrested yesterday by inspectors Wilde and Coghill on the charge of robbing the mails. Losses of money sent through the office have been frequently reported, and the disappearance of $1,000 of late, and the two inspectors were sent here to work the case up. A decoy letter, containing marked money, was mailed on the train, and when Jordan was received here today of the money was received here today from the other side of the arroyo that last Friday night a party of armed men rode into the Azadores ranch in the Sand district and tried to rob a man named Gilman, stating that he was a horse-thief and that they were going to take him Brownsville. A companion of Gilman, Martin Cavazos, living at the Tanamoras ranch in Hidalgo county, stated, carried provisions to the men who robbed the Animas ranch while they were encamped in the woods, and has disappeared. It would look as if the rancheros were in this line of business and were taking the law into their own hands.

FATAL ENDING OF A QUARREL.

A Shooting Affair That Resulted in the Death of a Drunken Man.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 19.—News was received here today of a shooting affray on the Frank place, a few miles below this city Wednesday night between Will Jennings and a party of Swedes. Jennings, who was employed on the place, became quarrelsome and entered a room occupied by a number of Swedes. The Swedes, wishing to sleep, ejected him, but he returned shortly after and commenced firing into the room with a revolver. One of his countrymen seized a Winchester rifle and shot Jennings dead. Nothing further is known of the affair.

ROBBED AN OREGON STAGE.

A Lone Highwayman Rides Mail Pouches of Registered Matter.

BAKER CITY, Ore., Oct. 19.—The Baker City and Canyon stage was held up at 6 o'clock this morning near Union creek and the mail-sacks robbed of all registered matter. The robber was disguised by having a dark woolen scarf tied over his head and face. The driver described the man as weighing about 150 pounds, dressed in dark clothes, and that the robber had relieved the mail-sacks of all registered matter the other mail was replaced in sacks, thrown in the stage, and the driver ordered to proceed on his journey, which he did without delay.

DELEGATES AT GRAND RAPIDS.

They View the Furniture Factories of the City.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 19.—The international delegates experienced a new sensation Friday morning when they rolled up the curtains of the sleeping berths and looked out the depot platform. The scene was a new one to the delegates, and the track rails were coated with white crystals.

The southerners shivered as they gazed from the dining-car and when the vestibule train doors were opened the local committee and the crowd in waiting saw the guests emerging with necks bunched in silk scarfs, hands heavily gloved, and shoulders elevated so as to sit as deeply as possible within their great coats the swarthy faces of the men not used to frost and northern rigors of climate. The air soon became warm, however, and when the party left the Morton house after breakfast the weather had moderated.

A salute of sixteen guns was fired in honor of the guests as the latter left the hotel for a row of the furniture factories. The forenoon was spent in viewing the great furniture shops and public buildings. At 11:30 and before lunch was served there was a view of the Grand Rapids battalion, the city fire department, and the city bicycle club. The local committee arranged for the afternoon a new diversion to the party—the spectacle of running and trotting races at the fair grounds.

FELL INTO THE RAPIDS.

The Mystery of a Maine Boy's Disappearance Solved.

SACARAPPA, Maine, Oct. 19.—Tommy, the 4-year-old son of Robert Macdonald of this village, mysteriously disappeared on Thursday, Oct. 8. On Thursday of that day, he, in company with his 6-year-old brother, went to a village store to purchase toys. The older brother soon returned home alone, and said that he had forgotten Tommy. He was sent back, but again returned, saying that he couldn't find his brother. The parents, assisted by neighbors and town officials, began a search through the village and surrounding country and in the river, without finding a trace of the missing boy. The brother sought the army recruiting station, and until last night, when, being more closely questioned, he confessed that while playing on Dana's bridge Tommy had ventured over the edge, had fallen, and disappeared in the rapids. Fearing to reveal the truth to his parents, the elder brother had told the former story.

EXPLORING NEW REGIONS.

Geological Survey Reports on the Lands on the Athabasca River.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 19.—S. G. McConnell, of the Geological Survey, has returned from his inspection of the region between the Peace and Athabasca rivers. He commenced about 300 miles north of Calgary, and extended his operations for some 300 miles further north to the vicinity of Vermilion. This region embraces an area of 30,000 to 40,000 square miles. Little of this tract was ever explored before by white men. A great deal of it is good farming land, but swamps abound, and make it unfit for settlement. The trees are principally spruce and poplar. Speaking of the deposits of oil reported to be there, Mr. McConnell said he certainly found quantities of tar indicating the presence of oil, but just in what quantity he was not prepared to say before making his report.

THEIR REPORT READY.

The Jefferson Barracks Inquiry Board's Report is Ready.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 19.—The Board of Inquiry which has been sitting at Jefferson Barracks, the army recruiting station, twelve miles below this city, for three weeks past, to ascertain if possible why there are so many desertions from the army, has completed its labors. Over fifty witnesses, including officers and men of all grades, were examined, but there is a difference of opinion as to whether the charge made by Woodward, the recruit, regarding the treatment and food of the men, upon which the inquiry was based, have been fully sustained. The testimony taken makes over 300 pages of type-written matter, and is ready to be forwarded to Secretary of War. The board also made a report on the sanitary condition of the barracks.

Masquerading as a Man.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 19.—A pretty, black-haired, blue-eyed young woman, evidently about 20 years old, was arrested at Clouet Wednesday night while attending bar in a saloon dressed as a man. She appeared in that town Saturday and at once applied for work as the saloon of a man named Smith and was promptly engaged as bartender. Suspicion was aroused by her womanish voice, which she could not disguise. She was surprised at being arrested and took matters coolly. Her antecedents and name are not known. She says she assumed the disguise to escape from a lover, who is a horse thief. She is still in jail.

Maryland Laborers Starving.

CHESTERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 16.—Much destitution exists among the large number of foreign laborers who have been employed during the past summer in the canning house of Lynch, in Kent county, owing, it is said, to the departure of the manager of the cannery without making provision for the redemption of brass checks given to employees as evidence of indebtedness. The stores formerly received the checks in payment for supplies, but now refuse to change them for money. The laborers, with no protection except rude board tents and with nothing to eat and with no way of returning to their homes.

To Preserve the Forests.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 19.—In the American forestry congress the committee on resolutions reported favorably on a series of resolutions calling upon the national government to establish a commission for the preservation of the public forests and recommending other measures for the advancement of forestry. Edgar T. Ensign, commissioner of Colorado, then read a paper on "Government Forest Reserves in the West."

Th' would-be competitor stood on the walk in front of his shabby old store,
He watched the big bundles of clothing rolling out of his competitor's door,
He watched so long till his eyes grew dim and at once began to dabble,

Skin on Fire

Agonizing, itching, burning and bleeding Eczema in its worst stages. A raw sore from head to foot. Hair gone. Doctors and hospitals fail. Tried everything.
Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

Cured by Cuticura

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and hospitals, but all to no purpose. The disease covered my whole body from head to foot.
My hair all came out, leaving me a complete rascal. After trying everything I heard of, I tried Cuticura. I had myself cured at the cost of about $6. I would not be without Cuticura Remedies in my house, as I find them useful in many cases and I think they are the only skin and blood medicine.

ISAAC H. GERMAN, Wu Shoro, N.Y.

Burning and Itching

I was sick in the fall of 1888 with a turning and itching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash and could not sleep night or work. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum (eczema), and said they had never seen anything like it before. I received a heap from any of them, or from any medicine could get hold of until I tried Cuticura.
Remedies. After three weeks' use I was able to work and kept getting better, until I am now cured. I recommend them to all suffering with skin diseases.

G. E. OSBORN, Tazewell, Ill.

Most Intense Itching

I have used the Cuticura Remedies successfully for my skin, which was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itching that he got no rest. The itching was so intense that my baby is cured, and is now a healthy, rosy-cheeked boy.

MARY KELLERMAN, N. J. J. J. J.

THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

New York Beaten by Brooklyn in the First Game.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The first game of the world's championship series between the New York and Brooklyn clubs was played at the Polo grounds in the city of New York on Saturday afternoon. The interest in the series is very great and thousands of baseball enthusiasts were unable to witness the game owing to the inability of the elevated and horse car railroad lines to convey them to the grounds.

New York's defeat and Brooklyn's victory was due to good batting. Keady had an off day and was hit hard and effectively.
He pitched well but he was worth only a few runs. Brooklyn managed to make their hits at opportune moments and nearly every one of them swelled the run column.

The Giants managed to bat fairly pretty freely, but their hits were of the scattering order and in consequence failed to yield as many runs. Throughout the game the Giants seemed to be confident of winning and they failed to play up to their old form.
They seemed to underestimate the abilities of their opponents and only once or twice exerted themselves.

The Giants' base, was anything but favorable to New York. Messrs. Gaffney and Ferguson, two American association men, officiated. Gaffney's work gave general satisfaction, but Ferguson's rulings greatly displeased the New York players and their friends. Score:
Brooklyn.....5 10 0 0 2 4—13
New York.....0 2 0 1 0 5—10

BRIEFLETS.

—Very, very dry—and no signs of rain.

—Regular meeting of the common council on Monday night.

—We are showing a fine line of guitars and violins. S. O. BURNHAM & Co.

—Attention is called to the advertisement of Mr. O. C. Williams in another column of this issue.

—The W. A. W. club will be entertained this evening by Miss Belle Winslow, No. 202 South Main street.

—The early morning train on the Chicago & Northwestern was delayed about two hours this morning by accident near Elroy.

—The ladies' orchestra are rehearsing tonight for their first appearance before the public at the G. A. R. entertainment Monday evening.

—To-morrow is "hospital Sunday," and collections for the benefit of the city hospital will be taken in the several churches in the city.

—The second-story walls of the Myers opera house are now nearly completed and it now begins to look as though the building will be enclosed before winter weather sets in.

—Monday of next week, October 21st, is the regular pay day in the Loan, Building and Savings Association. Stockholders will please make a note of the fact.

—A great bargain—Having a fine offer to go into the grocery trade I offer my stock and fixtures cheap. Books will show a good paying business with small amount of capital invested.

D. J. CONGANNON.

—Mr. Frank L. Hayden, formerly of this city, is now the managing editor of the Omaha Republican, with a salary of $3,000 a year. May he live long and prosper, is the wish of his Bower City friends.

—A good cook, man or woman in middle life, with no incumbrances, capable of managing large kitchen, can find steady employment at good wages by addressing, with references, P. O. box 1891, Elgin, Ill.

—There was quite an exciting scene at the residence of Mr. Charles Francis, Milwaukee avenue, this morning at about 11 o'clock, caused by the chimney catching fire from an over-heated stove. The fire was extinguished with but little damage.

—Last evening a number of friends of Mrs. John Baker, No. 53 Union street, surprised her in a most unexpected manner, the occasion of the surprise being Mrs. Baker's birthday. The evening was spent playing progressive euchre, and after a rich lunch had been served the party broke up, highly gratified with the evening's enjoyment.

—The mayor and common council of Durand, Wis., (not DeKalb, Ill., as printed last evening) failed to arrive as expected. It is now said that they will have sometime this evening and remain over Sunday. One of the Durand councilmen is a relative of Mr. E. W. Vandervlyn, of the first ward, through whom the Durand authorities were made aware that Janesville had a steam fire engine to dispose of.

—Beloit Free Press.—The Golden, Wis., of Janesville, was in the city a few hours to-day. It would do Golden and fellows of Janesville like him a great deal of good if their visits to Beloit were more frequent. They might, by this coming in contact with a refined and virtuous people, acquire the polish and graces which the regular Janesvillian are now lacking in.

—The fortnightly club met last night with the Misses Harris, No. 158 South Jackson street, the subject under discussion being "Capital and Labor." The parts were ably taken. Mr. Fred Clemens read a paper on "Contract Labor," as did also Misses Gertie Cobb on "Capital and Labor" in the year 2000, and Maude Crane on "Slavery." After the programme the company played whist and departed to their homes highly pleased with the evening's enjoyment.

—There will be a ball game at the park tomorrow between the Mutu's and a professional team composed Anderson, son, pitcher for the Detroit team, winners of the Inter-State League pennant; Cal Broughton, catcher for the St. Paul, Northwestern League, second in the flag race; Tom Morrissey, of the Milwaukee; Sheehan and Roberts, of the Peoria, Ill.; Joe Cantillon, of the Burlington, Iowa; teams; Birmingham, of the Marquette, Mich.; team; James Cantillon, of the Terra Haute, Ind. Best leaves at 1:30. Everybody may come with the expectation of seeing the best game of the season.

—Fathers & Barnes' delivery horse took a little run this morning. Mr. J. A. Fathers left him standing in front of Al Kavelage's house on South Main street, when the wind blew some leaves under his feet, scaring him and he started out. He ran down Main street and in turning in at Mr. Fathers' residence, No. 259 South Main street, he collided with the gate post. Here the horse and buggy parted company, the buggy remaining gracefully draped around the gate-post, and the horse continuing up Main street was finally caught up on West Milwaukee street. The buggy and harness are somewhat disfigured and the horse received a bad cut on the leg.

—One of the largest audiences at the season greeted the "Mamma" company at Lappin's Opera House last night. "Mamma" is one of the farces without a plot, but abounding in funny things and comic situations. Mr. Frank Deshon as Littlebit Flipp, is as comical as ever and kept the audience in a roar of laughter. Mr. Gus Hennessey, who took the part of Macalister Sherry, was very good as was also Al Aiken, as Col. Breeze. Will H. Sloane brought down the house as the Irish policeman. Far Rockaway was a "game sport and don't you forget it." Miss Amy Ames, as Maggie Fies was excellent her make up being perfect. The choruses were fair and solos good, especially Will Sloane's "McGinnity." Messrs. Deshon and Hennessey sang "Jolly Jailbirds of a feather," from Erminia, and brought down the house. Taken it all through it was very good.

FOUND.—Our trace has always found the celebrated Douglas shoes perfectly satisfactory. They are elegant style and wear like iron. Don't buy goods of inferior material, but get the genuine. You will find our stock complete.

BROWN BROS.

Our millinery department contains the choicest selection of novelties ever shown in the city. ARCHIE REID.

GRAND ENTERTAINMENT.

BY THE G. A. R. ON MONDAY EVENING AT COLUMBIA HALL.

The ladies orchestra will prove quite an attraction, as it is composed of young ladies of our own city, and more than usual interest will be taken in their first appearance in public, and we predict a crowded house on Monday evening. The price of admission will be ten cents and the public are invited.

The party is to be held at Columbia, formerly Cannon's hall, and will commence at eight o'clock sharp. The programme is as follows:

A VERY CLEVER STORY.

TOLD BY SENATOR JOHN C. SPOONER.

Senator John C. Spooner had a little time to spare yesterday afternoon, and amused himself by studying Shakespeare, says the Chicago Times. To one who called upon him at the Grand Pacific he said: "This book always recalls an amusing incident to me. Some years ago a young relative of mine was at an eastern college. He planted those old-time oats and he reaped for a crop many debts. He wrote his father an affectionate letter, casually mentioning the state of his finances. In a few days the father received a package containing a copy of Shakespeare. The boy deeked the bard of Avon as cordially as his father admired him, and all efforts to get the student interested in the great writer had been futile. When the boy discovered his present he was mad and disappointed, and the volume flew through the air, landing in a corner of the room, where it lay until the father paid his son a visit. In the course of conversation the old gentleman asked if the boy had read Shakespeare. 'Yes, indeed, father,' replied the boy, 'I've read and re-read it. The book has served to turn my thoughts from the bills I am struggling to meet.' 'Where's the book?' asked the parent. 'The son brought it from its dusty resting place, and as the father turned the leaves, $5, $10 and $20 bills dropped to the floor. The boy's eyes looked like a pair of door knobs as he gathered up the mounds. His father laughed and said: 'Never despise a gift, however small, for many times it may prove a blessing in disguise.'"

THE WATER POWER.

A GENERAL SHUTTING DOWN OF ALL THE MILLS AND FACTORIES.

On Tuesday next all the mills and factories on the upper water power will shut down for the purpose of putting in a new system of gates in front of their wheels. This is made necessary in order that all using water for power purposes may comply with the order of the current court, and the new gates will be put in according to plans drawn up by Engineer Edward Ruger and adopted by the water power owners. By this system of new gates each power owner will be enabled to draw just as much water as he owns under a certain head and no more. When there is a scarcity of water as at present, water will be drawn in accordance with a rule, those owning first water, so called, being the last to shut down. Mr. O. W. Hodson informed a Gazette representative to-day that all using power from the upper dam would put in these new gates, in accordance with a general agreement of the power owners, and in compliance with an order from the court.

Be sure and call for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup if you are troubled with a bad cough or cold.

Mr. L. B. Kiefer, of Lancaster, Pa., wrote me—Having a second leg of almost thirty days standing, and after trying half a dozen advertised preparations in the market without satisfactory results, I tried Bull's Cough Syrup, and in less than three days my leg was all right again. HEADLES WINS AGAIN.

A Verdict of Eighteen Thousand Five Hundred Dollars

AWARDED THE PLAINTIFF.

The Case Hotly Contested on Both Sides—The Supreme Court.

The case of Charles T. Headles by his guardian vs. Chicago & Northwestern railway company was tried at Elkhorn this week. It will be remembered that the case was first tried in this county and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $30,000. The case was taken to the supreme court and that court said that the damages were excessive. The case was afterwards removed to Walworth county by the railway company. The trial lasted five days and was sharply contested on the part of the defense in every particular. It is said that the defendant's attorneys tried the case evidently preparing for the supreme court. All of the arguments of Mr. Fetters and Mr. Jeffers were caused to be taken down by the defendant's attorneys in hopes that they might say something on which the defendant could base an objection. This is a very unusual proceeding, and while Mr. Jeffers was opening the case, on discovering that he informed the attorneys for the defendant that nothing objectionable would be said, but that they would try and make some good literature for them before they got through. It was said by the attorneys of Walworth county that it was the most important civil case ever tried in the county.

Fetters, Jeffers & Fifield appeared for the plaintiff and General F. O. Winkler, of Milwaukee, and W. B. Kepp, solicitor general of the Chicago & Northwestern road, Chicago, appeared for the defendant.

After an able address by Judge Winslow the jury retired and were out for about three hours. They had fifteen questions to answer on a special verdict and returned into court rendering a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $18,500. The plaintiff's attorneys in view of the decision of the supreme court only asked for $25,000, and they are well satisfied with the verdict although believing that $25,000 would not have been excessive.

Mr. Kepp traveled to Elkhorn and while there lived in a special car, a thing that the community of Elkhorn isn't used to, and there were many happy times made upon the appearance of an able attorney in a special car and with servants attempting to hold the damages down against an injured child. Mr. Kepp was obliged to leave before the arguments were finished, and Mr. Fetters in closing the case to the jury and referring to Mr. Kepp said: "The silver cord is loosed, the golden bowl is broken and the palace car has slipped away," much to the delight of the large audience that had assembled in the court room. Mr. Kepp is spoken of by the attorney for the plaintiff, as a gentleman and a lawyer of learning and ability. General Winkler is well known throughout the state of Wisconsin. It was said that of the great number of negligence cases that Mr. Kepp had ever tried the largest verdict prior to this time was $6,000. Therefore the attorneys for the plaintiff were pleased to break his record three times over in this case. It was a most frightful accident and a great injury to the little child. The evidence seems to establish the fact that the Railway Company was very negligent in this matter.

Probably the case will go to the supreme court again but Mr. Headles is to be congratulated upon the results up to date.

The jury was composed of some of the ablest and most prominent men in Walworth county and was an exceptionally good jury, and the jury that tried the case in this county was composed of the same class of men which ought to be a sufficient guaranty that the case has been twice well decided.

LATER—Since writing the above we learned that eleven of the jury were for $25,000 and only one man held down. He stated that he would not go one cent higher and the others thought best to con down to him than to have a disagreement. That the attorneys for the company say that they believe that they will pay this without going to the supreme court.

OUR FIRE ENGINE.

ALPHABET AGAINST THE SALE AND REPAIRS WHY THE CITY SHOULD REAP THEM.

To the Editor.

JANEVILLE, Wis., October 19, 1899.

In your issue of 18th inst. you state that the city of DeKalb will probably purchase one of our steam engines. Per mit me to suggest that in view of the fact that our system of water works has never been thoroughly tested by a large conflagration, and that water works, equally as good as ours in other cities, have been tested and have many times failed in cases of urgent necessity, it would certainly seem like a short-sighted policy to deprive our selves of either of our reserve engines. The preservation of property once acquired is as much a necessity to the welfare of a people as its original acquirement. Several instances can be cited of recent occurrence where a deficient protection has resulted in serious loss of property, many times more than the cost of the machinery to protect it. The engines once in our hands and paid for can be more easily retained than new ones can be purchased. A failing common to almost every town is to under-rate its fire hazard and to over-rate its protection, and Janesville, while possessing some very admirable features, is I regret to say, no exception to this rule.

Very truly yours,

WM. M. WRIGHT.

EDUCATIONAL ECHOES.

NOTES FROM THE WISCONSIN GREAT UNIVERSITY. THE JUNIORS AGAIN PLAY BALL.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 19, 1899.—The Potomac in its most serene moments was never more quiet than the Wisconsin university seems to be at present. Yet in some minor sense things might be quieter. The interest in hazing matters is on the decline, and even the impressive Riley walks to and fro unaccompanied.

Four students were suspended for two weeks each, this week, under a rule laid down by President Chamberlain, recently. These four men were placed on parole for the good behavior of the whole W. W. and a little frolic by some one else was the reason of these four men's suspension. The boys are not always inclined to think that what is, is right.

There seems to be a growing gulf between the "Frats" and "non Frats." Of course but a selected few are ever invited to become members of the Greek letter societies but having once joined the other college societies are inclined to extend cold shoulders to them.

The Juniors played ball again yesterday, and as usual, were victorious. This time the Freshmen were their victims and the score was 10 to 8. To-day the University club play the Delafeld college nine. Professionals will do the battery work for both teams. Last Saturday's lawn tennis contest at Beloit between the State University team and the Beloit college men was an easy victory for Madison.

The Unitarian conference which has been in session during the past week has called several Janesville delegates to Madison, the sight of whose faces did Janesville students good.

The Rev. Mr. Elliott, of the Bower City, made a very favorable impression in his Thursday morning address.

The class parties and various regular oratorical contests which come on soon are occupying the thoughts of the students.

GLANDREED HORSES.

THE DISEASE APPEARS IN FOND DU LAC.

Fond du Lac Reporter: Last Sunday night State Veterinarian Atkinson visited the city and early Monday morning called upon Senator Stanfield, in regard to a reported case of glanders in the town of Fond du Lac. Mr. Stanfield referred him to F. F. Parsons, justice of the peace and health officer of the town. The veterinarian found Mr. Parsons directed him to take such preliminary action as was necessary, afterward sending him, from the north, an order by mail to proceed in accordance with the statute in such cases. Justice Parsons accordingly summoned three disinterested parties—W. H. Chase, N. O. Bell and John McIntyre—who took the oath prescribed by law, before him, Wednesday, and went to O. W. Powers' farm, in the town of Fond du Lac, to look at a horse sick with the glanders, and set price on the animal. The details having been attended to the horse was led out and shot.

Every effort will be made to keep the disease from spreading, and if necessary quarantine will be established.

Mudge—I thought you said you never went to the circus.

Wickwire—I haven't in the last fifteen years.
